Hotel Seegarten, a new wellness hotspot in the densely wooded Sauerland region, commands a heavenly position right by the Sorpe Reservoir, between the promenade and the spa gardens. The recently completed extension stands out with its architectural clarity and transparency. An almost full-glazed façade forms an exhilarating contrast to the traditional design of the neighbouring main building. On the inside, 21 quiet rooms with sophisticated furnishings, and a generous spa area provide total relaxation - including a view over the Sorpe Reservoir. Hotelier Olaf Baumeister, a renowned TV chef, and the bathroom architects place their confidence in CeraLine shower channels and the CeraWall wall-drainage system for the bathrooms and wellness landscape. Local quality products with award-winning design, top functionality and easy maintenance.
